

Maryland At A Glance

Rockville is home to the 422nd Medical Detachment (Veterinary Services), which provided care and attention to patients during the Innovative Readiness Training exercise Appalachian Mountain 2014 in Cumberland. Soldiers trained in a joint environment while providing medical, dental, optical and veterinary care for communities in Allegany County. The team served 1,119 medical and dental patients, 780 optical patients and 1,647 veterinary patients.

When not serving in uniform, Maryland's Citizen Soldiers can often be found honing their skills in the civilian sector. That civilian-acquired subject matter expertise is what Lt. Col. Alexander Garza, a surgeon for the 352nd Civil Affairs Command, located at Fort Meade, was called upon to share with major television networks in the aftermath of America's first Ebola virus disease diagnosis.

As a civilian, Garza is the Associate Dean for Public Health Practice and Associate Professor of Epidemiology and Emergency Medicine at St. Louis University College for Public Health and Social Justice. Prior to that, Garza was appointed by President Barack Obama and confirmed by the Senate as the Assistant Secretary for Health Affairs and Chief Medical Officer for the Department of Homeland Security. In that capacity he was involved with emerging infectious diseases and their effect on security as well as operational and occupational health.
